Elizabeth Harris

FRONT-END WEB DEVELOPER

ABOUT ME

I'm a Front End Web Developer who made the transition into tech from a career as an opera singer. As a performer, I learned to collaborate in a dynamic team environment, and I have an innate drive to learn and practice new skills, I'm not afraid to ask questions, or take (calculated) risks. I am passionate about problem solving, and believe that tech can provide an equalizing force for growth.

PROJECTS

CINEMA HUNTERS HTML 5 | CSS | SCSS | Paired Programming

A paired project built with Vanilla JS. The user selects a genre from the provided dropdown menu and a random list of movies is returned.

TAROT TIME HTML 5 | CSS | React | RESTful API |

Originally created as an assignment, I am rebuilding this application from a very basic API call and randomizer to add more complex functionality and a cleaner UX. Updates include multi-card spreads and a card search feature. Future updates will include a shop feature and an option to store readings/notes using Firebase.

SOCIAL PLANNER HTML 5 | CSS | React | RESTful API | Firebase

Our team used both Firebase and a REST API to create a social calendar that allows you to swap brunch with your friends for a TV marathon. The user can add and remove events, and add TV shows to a Favourites list to view later.

EXPERIENCE

WEB/GRAPHIC DESIGN FREELANCER

MAY 2020 - PRESENT

I work with small business owners, from ideation to implementation and launch, to build websites and design assets using a content-first strategy that speaks to their ideal client. I leverage my HTML, CSS and JavaScript skills to give each client a fully-customized, yet low barrier option for their website, in an intensive 2 week format.

Includes brand & marketing strategy (including SEO), copywriting, wireframing, content curation and post-launch support.

FREELANCE MUSICIAN

2012 - PRESENT

As an opera singer, I combined meticulous preparation with the ability to think on my feet in collaborations with others.
